PRODUCT OVERVIEW

Cisco C9200L-48T-4G Switch

The Cisco C9200L-48T-4G is a foundational access-layer switch built for enterprise networks seeking high reliability and security without the requirement for Power over Ethernet (PoE). Featuring 48 Gigabit Ethernet ports and 4 fixed 1G SFP uplinks, it delivers non-blocking bandwidth to keep high-density campus environments operating smoothly.

Operating on the advanced Cisco IOS XE platform, the Catalyst 9200L series provides automated management, open telemetry, and enhanced security capabilities like AES-128 MACsec encryption. It is engineered to simplify network complexity, lower operational expenses, and provide consistent connectivity for workstations, servers, and core infrastructure.

KEY FEATURES

Enterprise Reliability & Security

48P

High Density

48 Gigabit Ethernet RJ-45 ports supporting full line-rate data transmission for enterprise access layers.

SFP

1G Uplinks

4 integrated 1G SFP fixed uplinks for high-speed connectivity to distribution and core layers.

SEC

Advanced Security

Includes AES-128 MACsec encryption, secure boot, and TrustAnchor technology to prevent unauthorized access.

XE

Cisco IOS XE

Modern, programmable operating system supporting model-driven telemetry and automated management workflows.

PWR

Power Redundancy

Supports dual field-replaceable power supplies for maximum network uptime and high availability.

1U

Rack Mountable

Compact 1U form factor suitable for standard 19-inch enterprise rack installations.
